NEWS OF THIS VICINITY STROUDSBURG.

The election in this and the adjoining borough, East Stroudsburg, went contrary to prediction--Republican. The Republicans gathered in mass on Tuesday evening and paraded the streets with drum corps, horns and other articles to celebrate the victory. A colored quartet was hired and serenaded several of the Democratic leaders. The song was "Marching Through Georgia" revised to read "As we march under the banner of protection." The Democrats of this borough feel very much dejected as the issues of the day come in, and have lost all hopes for the future. Mrs. C. W. Gerry, who has been visiting Mrs. John Decker, left on Wednesday for Jersey City, N. J., and will return to her home at Trenton, N. J., in a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnson and Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Flory, all of Bangor, spent Sunday with Jacob Houser and family, on Center street. Samuel Ballis, of Bartonsville, was arrested and lodged in the jail at this place on several charges, among the many being the charge of breaking the windows of the passenger coaches on the Wilkes-Barre and Eastern railroad. He will be given a hearing on Monday next.

George Fable, of the Hagerman House, Pen Argyl, was in town on Tuesday. Thomas Waters, of the Philadelphia College of Pharmacy, is spending a few days in town with his parents on Center street. Captain W. R. Bennett, who has been ill for some time, is nearly convalescent.

A new company called the Monroe Brick and Tile company has been organized, and application will be made to the governor for a charter. The stockholders are W. E. Dean, A. J. Heller, Edward Datta and Henry Wilton. They propose to manufacture bricks of all kinds, terra cotta and sewer pipes, tiling, chimney tops, coping and other articles.

The members of the University of Pennsylvania Foot Ball team are at the Delaware Water Gap practicing in secret for their game for Saturday next. Mr. and Mrs. Sutton, of Indiana, Pa., are visiting Professor and Mrs. Bible, of the Normal school. George Nipert, of East Stroudsburg, wears a big broad smile--it's a boy.

J. H. Donahue, of Easton, was in town on Tuesday visiting friends. Snow fell on the Pocono mountains on Monday and a slight flurry in this town on Tuesday. Winter will be upon us before we know it. Mrs. M. R. Sovocool and Mrs. Jacob Houser spent yesterday (Thursday) at Loaders, Pa.

ARCHBALD.

On Saturday evening the fair of St. Thomas' congregation will re-open for two weeks. Since its closing several weeks ago many new and valuable articles have been received, and arrangements have been made whereby the fair will be more entertaining than ever. Programmes that cannot fail to please have been arranged for each evening so that it will easily be a most desirable place to spend an evening. Colonel H. B. Sprague delivered the third lecture of the course on Shakespeare on Wednesday evening. He considered particularly the military elements in Shakespeare's plays and sonnets, and advanced many ingenious theories to show that Shakespeare had been a soldier. In his next lecture Mr. Sprague will consider the Baconian theory as to the authorship of Shakespeare's plays. This promises to be one of the most interesting lectures of the course, and, in order that all may hear it, it has been decided to sell tickets for this lecture and the two remaining lectures of the course for half a dollar, one-half the price of the course. Tickets may be had from Miss Sweeney or any other member of Archbald University Extension circle.

The remains of the late Michael Dunn were laid to rest in the Catholic cemetery yesterday morning. The house was thronged during the early hours with friends of the deceased who had assembled to look upon him for the last time. At 10 o'clock the remains were borne to St. Thomas' church, where the rector, Rev. T. J. Comerford, solemnized a requiem mass. After the services Father Comerford paid a graceful tribute to the memory of the dead soldier, and referred in fitting terms to the integrity, honesty and worth of the detachment from Lieutenant James G. Stephens Post, Grand Army of the Republic, of which the deceased was a member. There were also many present from the surrounding towns. The pallbearers were Captain C. C. Battenberg and John Lyons, of James G. Stephens Post; L. J. Flynn, W. A. Gilmartin, Patrick Norton and Thomas Malone.

DALTON.

Last Tuesday's election at this place passed off very quietly and rolled up a big Republican majority for each candidate. We, like many others, are inclined to think that this is a Republican year. Mrs. Marcy, of Wilkes-Barre, is spending a few days with her sister, Mrs. Angle, of this place. C. A. Knight is ill. W. H. Perkins is building a new tenement house for his coachman, David Gunton. A very pleasant afternoon and evening was spent at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Asa Eaton, of this place. The occasion being a surprise birthday party in honor of Mrs. Eaton's seventy-fifth birthday. A large number were present and refreshments were served. Among the guests were: Dr. and Mrs. G. E. Dean, of Scranton; Mr. and Mrs. Davis Green, of Scranton; Mr. and Mrs. Lemont Hallstead, of Scranton; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Trip, of Scranton; Mr. and Mrs. Myron Dean, of Scranton; Mr. and Mrs. James Green, of Scranton; Mr. and Mrs. Myron Dean, of Scranton; Mr. and Mrs. George Sisson, of LaPlume; Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Dean, of Scranton; Dr. E. M. Green, of Scranton; Mrs. Lizzie Glover, Miss Mame Green, Mrs. Clara Dean, Miss Deah, Mrs. F. H. Shires, Miss Nettie Smith, Mrs. G. H. Shires, Mrs. Anderson, Miss Annie M. Dean, Percy Shires, all of Scranton; Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Ives, Mr. and Mrs. A. Ball, Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Dean, James P. Dickson, Amasa Dean, John Dean, H.

DR. GIBBONS' EXPERIMENTS He Asserts That Electricity Does Not Always Kill the Victim. WOULD PRACTICE ON WILSON

The Scientist Who Has Demonstrated His Theories Upon Rabbits Desires An Opportunity to Resuscitate a Criminal After Electrocuton. Special to the Scranton Tribune. Pittston, Nov. 8. The many friends of Dr. P. J. Gibbons, formerly of this place, now a resident of Syracuse, N. Y., will no doubt be pleased to learn of the success he is meeting in that city. The doctor since his residence in that city has spent much time in studying the subject of electrocution, and has been so successful from recent experiments that he has no hesitancy in saying that those who have been shocked to apparent death by electricity have really been in a state of suspended animation. His contention is that by artificial respiration their lives might have been saved. In the interests of science Governor Flower, of New York, has been asked the privilege of testing his invention on the body of Charles F. Wilson, now in Auburn prison under sentence of death. The convict, Wilson, has been approached upon the subject of submitting his body for experimental purposes after he has suffered the penalty of the law in the electric chair, and he is quite willing that Dr. Gibbons should attempt to bring him back to life. At first he demurred to the treatment, on the plea that he would not care to expose his crime a second time in the event of the doctor's complete success. He has been assured that under those circumstances the governor would be strongly appealed to for clemency to a man who has suffered so much and has been passively instrumental in proving a fact so valuable to the interests of science and the welfare of all workers in electricity. If the governor will consent to this trial of the doctor's skill, Wilson will be given the fullest extent of the dynamo, and after being pronounced dead by the attending physicians Dr. Gibbons will be on hand with his instruments and apparatus ready to test his belief that it is not actually extinct. If the appeal now lying with Governor Flower receives favorable consideration it is possible that a new epoch in the history of electricity is at hand. The mighty power has been harnessed for man's use; it has become to some extent his servant, but its deadly nature has brought terrible disaster at times. It remains to be seen if the Syracuse scientist has found the means to rob it of its sting. The New York World of Sunday contained a three-column article upon the invention. Among other things regarding the extraordinary discovery it relates an interview had with Dr. Gibbons, which is as follows: "Respecting my invention, or rather my theory," said the physician, "I suppose you have lately had many reports of French ideas on the same subject; but I believe I am right in claiming priority to anything that has been discovered. I am most decidedly of the opinion that a large percentage of cases in which supposed death has been caused by electricity have really been nothing more than suspended animation, and that if they had been properly operated upon without delay, life might easily have been brought back. "Since the first electrical execution, the case of Kemmler, I have been investigating the subject, and have lately made several successful experiments with animals. In my life-restoring process drugs and chemicals are often used. It is also sometimes necessary to inject a solution into the arteries, such as has been tried upon people who have bled to death. "My experiments with rabbits, for instance, have shown that they can be apparently killed with a voltage of from 800 to 2,500 and still be restored to perfect life and health. Now, it may be assumed that a rabbit is more easily killed than a human being. But I have used on one of these little animals 1,000 more volts than has ever been used in an electrical execution, and successfully brought the rabbit back to life. "A rabbit under these circumstances should be more difficult to revive than a man. If a rabbit can be restored, why not a human being; providing he is healthy?" "During my years of practice I have had three cases of persons struck by lightning who were supposed to be dead. They had all the semblance of death. They were entirely unconscious, and the accepted signs of living were suspended. Yet they were revived. It is a great mystery, and one that will take ages to be perfectly understood. But I will give this much out. The treatment must follow the electric shock at the earliest possible moment if success would be assured. However, I have restored a cat which had been apparently dead fully ten minutes. "I believe more murderers upon the dissecting table than in the electric chair. That is my reason for advocating the adoption of a state law allowing resuscitation, or attempted resuscitation, to be resorted to at all electrocutions. "I do not want to resuscitate criminals. When they are dead so much better for the community. I want to prove that electricity does not necessarily kill outright, so that many accidental sufferers may be saved. If Governor Flower will sanction my making an experiment upon the body of Wilson, now under sentence of death at Auburn prison, I will prove the value of my inventions and the truth of my assertions." Dr. Gibbons is a brother of Dr. E. H. Gibbons, of Scranton, and a brother of Mrs. P. McElhenney, of this place. He was born in Honesdale about thirty-three years ago, and obtained his education chiefly by dint of his own exertion.

CARBONDALE.

Yesterday morning at 9:30 o'clock occurred the death of James J. Davis at his home on River street, after a long illness with consumption. Deceased was 44 years of age, being born in this city Nov. 19, 1850. He is survived by his wife and a 4-year-old son. The mother of the deceased, Mrs. Jane Davis, and three sisters also survive him. The sisters are Mrs. J. R. Lacey, of Grand Rapids, Mich.; Mrs. N. F. Gilroy, of New York city; and Mrs. D. Bradley, of De Land, Fla. The funeral will be held at the residence, 45 River street, on Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock. D. W. Humphrey, president of the Lackawanna Republican club, has called a meeting of the club on Friday evening at 8 o'clock in the W. W. Watt building to discuss the arrangements for a grand demonstration and parade in honor of the recent Republican victory. Miss Annie Stewart, of Moses Taylor hospital, in Scranton, was the guest of Miss Rena Daley on Wednesday. Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Hoyle, of Nineveh, N. Y., returned home yesterday from a brief visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Copeland, on Cannan street. D. L. Crane is on a business and pleasure trip to New York city. Thomas Van Kirk, of High street, will spend today transacting business in Scranton. On Saturday afternoon the Carbonate High School Foot Ball team will contest in a game with the Wood's Business college eleven at the Alumni park. Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Reynolds, who have been residing at 38 Terrace street, yesterday, removed to the Ledyard block on Lincoln avenue and will occupy the rooms vacated by Mr. and Mrs. James B. Nicholson. B. F. Haxey, of Forest City, the spicy correspondent of the new daily Anthracite, was a Carbondale visitor last evening.

HONESDALE.

On Tuesday old Wayne's Democracy was very thoroughly snowed under, but not more effectually than old Wayne itself has been snowed under yesterday. Snow began to fall during the forenoon and kept it up until about six inches covered the ground and the memory of the oldest inhabitant has been paralyzed trying to remember when we have had such a heavy snow fall so early in November. Doctor Patterson, as usual, was the first one out to enjoy a sleigh ride. The doctor is much impatient about taking a ride on the first snow that he would use a barrel of grease in order to do so. "It is not often that ice ten or twelve inches in thickness can be found on our streets as early in the season as this, but Main street was liberally bedewed with yesterday morning, the result of ice man Dannehl's team having away. The team started from the lower end of Main street, ran to Thirtieth street, thence to Spring street, then back to Park street and from there to Seeleyville, where they were stopped. No damage was done. The Rev. Mr. Atkinson, an assistant at St. George's, New York city, will be the guest of Rev. and Mrs. Lewis over Sunday, and will preach in the Episcopal church both morning and evening on Sunday. Miss Winnie Rose is the guest of Miss Phelps at Scranton. Mrs. Stoddard Van Inwegen and Mrs. Job Van Inwegen, both of Cuddebackville, N. Y., are visiting friends in town. A party of our local hunters, accompanied by those veteran deer hunters, Bill and Mart Kimble, started for the wilds of Pike county today to wage war upon the deer and bears there.

FOREST CITY.

Thomas Johns, of Pleasant Mount, was a visitor in town yesterday. Attorney L. P. Wedeman was legally engaged in Honesdale yesterday. Snow fell steadily in this place yesterday. Born, to Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Davies, Tuesday, a son. Workmen are repairing the slate roof of the borough school building. This place went Republican by a majority of forty-nine votes. The many friends of Brant McLaughlin will be pleased to learn that he is recovering from a serious attack of typhoid pneumonia. A photograph session was held at the pleasant home of Miss Flo Allen last Wednesday evening under the auspices of the Young People's society of the Christian Endeavor. The social was largely attended and an enjoyable evening was spent. Miss Alice Chase, of Carbondale, favored the gathering with a number of pleasing piano solos. The visitors were Miss Alice Chase, Miss Minnie Bowen and H. G. Likely, of Carbondale; C. W. Houser, of Olyphant.

NICHOLSON.

Miss Kathleen Foley, of New York, is visiting Mrs. C. B. Williams. Mrs. Walter Horton and Mrs. Sarah Lambkin, of Sheffield, Pa., are visiting their sister, Mrs. O. H. Williams. Mrs. Augusta Benjamin is visiting her brother in Elmira.
